

In most windows cross-validation picks the largest available penalty, shrinking coefficients toward constancy

% of windows at the grid ceiling

